

LUCKY SHAMROCK HIGHLIGHTS BEST OF YEARS

by Chris McGrath

Well, somebody has to blow a trumpet for them. Because it wouldn't be their own style, that's for sure, seasoned as they are in the vicissitudes of life with Thoroughbreds. Lori Fackler was raised on a small horse farm; her husband Tommy was a journeyman jockey. An understated, tough, modest pair, who know that you can't ever bank on luck to reward work, but also that you won't ever get the luck, without first putting in the work.

Last week, in Saratoga, they sold a homebred yearling by Frosted to Spendthrift for $500,000. And this was only the latest remarkable dividend from a visit to the Keeneland November Sale in 2007, where they bought two cheap young mares to take back to Florida. Two, that is, of the bare handful they own outright; alongside maybe a dozen partnership mares at Best A Luck Farm, in the quiet back country north of Ocala.

The Frosted colt (offered through Francis and Barbara Vanlangendonck's Summerfield Sales, ThoroStride video) is out of Flirting With Fate (Saint Ballado), who cost $28,000 as winner of one of her seven starts. Her 2011 colt Dance With Fate (Two Step Salsa) won the GI Toyota Blue Grass S. before finishing sixth in the GI Kentucky Derby. Cont. p3

KEENELAND TO ENCOURAGE USE OF ENDOSCOPIC VIDEOS FOR SEPTEMBER SALE

Keeneland is encouraging consignors and veterinarians to make full use of the repository to upload and to view endoscopic videos of horses scheduled to sell at the company's September Yearling Sale, to be held Sept. 9-22 in Lexington.

Keeneland has come out in support of a recent announcement from the Consignors and Commercial Breeders Association endorsing the American Association of Equine Practitioners' (AAEP) "Protocol for Pre-Sale Video Endoscopic Examination of the Upper Airway at Public Auction" as a means of educating buyers and veterinarians about video scopes, to increase buyer confidence in the procedure and to help create uniformity among sales companies.

The second mare, the unraced Slew's Quality (Elusive Quality), was acquired for $35,000 and last year gained fame as dam of the nation's champion female sprinter, GI Breeders' Cup Filly & Mare Sprint winner Shamrock Rose (First Dude), who recently retired with $968,962 in the bank.

"We were just starting into it a little more, with the mares, and they were by strong stallions," Lori remembers. "I guess I really liked the pedigrees, as something we could build from without spending money we didn't have. And they have both made really nice foals. Especially Flirting With Fate. She has a really neat walk to her, and so do her foals, and that gets peoples' attention. So she was kind of the favorite until Shamrock Rose came along. But I've kept with them, too. Some people only give them a couple years and then they move on. Those mares are getting age on them now, so I'm kinda loyal; always still hoping things will happen."

Dance With Fate | Eclipse Sportswire

And things do keep happening. Even back in March, there was much talk about the Frosted colt. Saratoga was already on the Facklers' mind. Three years ago, after all, they had likewise taken the option of that sale with an Uncle Mo colt out of the same mare, departing from their standard formula of raising horses for the 2-year-old sales, and they were rewarded with $650,000.

At 18, Flirting With Fate has a finite producing future. She plainly now deserves marquee stallion fees, but her owners can't leave themselves too exposed.

"And that's difficult," Tommy admits. "We try to stick to what got us started, and just be careful not to get too above ourselves. Because you have one or two go the wrong way, with those fees, then you're in trouble. So we have to balance it out."

“Upgrading the stallions and the insurance, it becomes expensive,” Lori agrees. “But it’s worth it. Slew’s Quality had a very nice Hard Spun filly this year, and then we sent her to Empire Maker.”

Of course, it is precisely by having earned such aristocratic partners—Flirting With Fate is meanwhile in foal to West Coast (Flatter)—that these mares opened up different options for realizing the value of their foals. Because the whole premise of the Facklers’ regular, breed-to-breeze program was to create value they could not afford to inject at the base, whether in expensive mares or commercially glamorous coverings.

“We can’t afford the big-pedigree horses,” Tommy Fackler explains. “So we have to make our own pedigree, as we go along. The people who sell weanlings and yearlings have to put up a lot of money, for the mares and the fees. We can’t do that, so we go the long route. Sell as 2-year-olds, when they are able to show the public what they can do on the racetrack. But these two mares, their babies can now be sold as weanlings and yearlings. They’ve put pedigree into their foals.”

Neither of the mares Lori Fackler bought in 2007 was terribly big. Maybe that was how they slipped through the net. Slew Quality’s granddam, after all, was a half-sister to none other than Lady’s Secret. Certainly to buy the pair for $63,000, in foal to blue-collar stallions Eurosilver and Consolidator, respectively, and later breed Grade I winners from both would be an incredible achievement for a big Kentucky farm, never mind for a Florida operation of such limited scale and resources.

Shamrock Rose | Horsephotos

Both Shamrock Rose and Dance With Fate showed how the usual system works, bringing $120,000 apiece at OBS April: good money for plain pages, having shown their wares as young athletes. (Albeit there have been bigger returns during what has also been a wonderful year for Best A Luck at the 2-year-old sales: two of Tommy Fackler’s pinhooks made $400,000 and $380,000 at OBS April, fillies by Danza and Ghostzapper bought for $74,000 and $150,000, respectively, at Fasig-Tipton’s October Yearling Sale). Cont. p5

“Shamrock Rose was always a pretty baby,” Tommy Fackler recalls. “A lot scopier than her mother. And when we started breaking her, she just had a really good mind. Anything you asked, she did easy. Very athletic, very smart. Never any problems, never the slightest issue, just a solid filly. But Dance With Fate, he was a monster. As a short yearling we thought we might have to geld him. He'd pick up the other babies and carry them round by their neck. Just playing.”

The Facklers have three training barns (plus one for broodmares) at The Gallops, a communal facility around a five-furlong oval. With 400 head of horses on the site, their youngsters will leave already well accustomed to the bustle of a training center.

There is a natural division of labor within their own operation: Tommy Fackler applies his track know-how to the education of the young athletes, while Lori Fackler supervises the mares and babies. Only she, of the pair, was born to her vocation: her parents Bob and Carol Melton owned Lots A Luck Farm, also in the Ocala neighborhood, and it was Bob's expertise as a former rodeo rider that drew the teenage Tommy to the farm as a novice with Thoroughbreds. (Best was his grandparents' surname, so Best A Luck contains a nod to both their families).

“It was a very good environment,” Lori Fackler says. “Because though I was mostly with the mares and the foals, you also did the night watching, you were involved in everything. In the summer, with the training horses, we would rent stalls at different places; and every once in a while we would run a horse off the farm, so I'd go down to Miami with my dad for a few days.”

Tommy Fackler, as a late starter and an outsider to the business, was no less indebted to Bob Melton for showing him the ropes, even if he'll still grumble mischievously about the pay. “Wasn't much at all,” he says with a grin. “But anyway, it taught me my career. Because I learned from the ground up. Without that, I wouldn't be able to do what I'm doing now. It was like going to college, and getting a little bit of money for it. And a wife!”

For he eloped with his boss's daughter as soon as he got a jockey licence. He rode 150 winners in the second half of the 1980s at places like Delaware and Birmingham.

“Did good in some places, starved to death at others,” Fackler says. “I did ride with Shoemaker. Once. Alabama, the very first night it opened, they had him come in to ride in the inaugural stakes. Neither one of us did any good, but I rode against Shoemaker.”

You catch a glint in his eye. Finished in front of him, didn't you Tommy?

“Yes!”

Of around 50 youngsters through his nursery every year, a good half will be broken and prepared for the track; the rest will be honed for sales, albeit at a more temperate rate than some rival outfits.

“We start them off slow,” Fackler stresses. “I spend a lot of time before I make it to the racetrack with them. The round pen, the paddock, that kind of thing: 30 days, or longer, before they even come out on the track. And even then I build them slow, slow, slow. Because too much speed, too soon, will set these young horses right back.

“I just try to let them tell me to move forward. Just from their attitude. Are they in the bit, are they wanting to do more? It's like a classroom full of kids, they're all different. Of course I have to do speed work, too, to get them through the sales. But it's about the foundation. If you have that underneath them, then you can go forward and do what you need to do.”

Among those to benefit from this grounding was Grade I winner and GI Breeders' Cup Classic runner-up Effinex (Mineshaft), who was broken here in his youth.

“He was a laid-back type, you never would have thought he would become what he did,” Fackler recalls. “But he also shows how different they all are. After he got to racing, he was a funny horse. If he acted up in the post parade or behind the gate, he didn't run very good. Then when they switched to Mike Smith, he said you got to leave the horse alone. If you made him switch lead, he'd bolt. And it was all upwards from there. So each horse is different and, like Smith did, you just kinda figure them out.”

In the case of Shamrock Rose, however, it was all out there. She breezed :10 flat. Moreover, a benign destiny kept the Facklers in the loop, as her purchaser Conrad Farms sent her to Lori Fackler's step-brother Mark Casse.

She won a stakes on debut at Woodbine as a juvenile. “But at three she just started out okay, seconds and thirds,” Tommy Fackler recalls. “So Mark brought her home to his place at Ocala, gave her a bit more time. And then he started her again at Presque Isle and she won by 10, easy.” Cont. p6

After that, she was on a roll. “When she ran in the [GII] Raven Run [S]. at Keeneland we were 20 minutes away, at the Fasig-Tipton sale,” continues Fackler. “And because we watched that race there, we said we wouldn't jinx her by going to the Breeders' Cup. So we stayed home and watched it on TV. And when the gates open, and they're down the backside... Man, if she even gets fourth or fifth that'll be something. Fourteen horses, outside post, and a 3-year-old. She was just amazing.”

Perhaps, when Shamrock Rose left the farm, she took with her the benediction of the Greek Orthodox monks who gaze upon the worldly endeavors of the horsemen on the neighboring property. More likely, she was blessed by the instincts and enterprise of the couple who raised her--who started out with a three-acre, backyard pinhooking experiment 23 years ago and now find themselves, still only from 45 acres, breeders and vendors of an Eclipse champion, and selling half-million dollar yearlings at Saratoga.

They've had to be cute, work the angles. Shamrock Rose herself, remember, was registered as a Pennsylvania foal.

“The mares get sent all over, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, Kentucky,” Lori Fackler explains. “Just different gimmicks, we rotate them around. So when it works out, like with her, it's incredibly special. A lot of these owners, you know, they're in Grade IIs, Grade Is, all the time. It's not a big deal. But for us, it's wonderful. I know we're not real young anymore, but nor are we somebody that's been in the business 60 years with unbelievable resources behind us. So it feels a pretty special thing to do. There's so much that has to go right.”

“And that word 'luck' has got to come into it, too,” adds Tommy Fackler. “But everybody in Marion County has seen how hard we've worked.”

“Everybody has been very supportive,” agrees Lori Fackler. “And it gives everybody hope. They look at us and can say, 'Well, maybe I've got a shot too.'”

BREEDING STOCK SALE ALERT:

1/4% CHECK-OFF PROGRAM ENROLLMENT UNDERWAY

Breeding Stock sellers may enroll in the voluntary NTRA 1/4% Check-off Program that helps fund the NTRA's federal legislative effort in Washington, DC. To contribute, sellers should return a completed enrollment form either to their consignor or directly to the sale company.

1/4% Check-off Program Enrollment Form - Click, complete and enroll today

Sellers may contribute 1/4 of one percent of the sale price ($2.50 for every $1,000) of each horse sold at major breeding stock sales and have the option of enrolling all or just some of their sale horses.

The NTRA's federal legislative team targets issues that have a direct and material effect on Thoroughbred industry participants and their business activities, whether those activities relate to racing, breeding or pari-mutuel wagering. The team's success depends on industry-wide participation in the 1/4% Check-off Program.

NTRA REPORT FROM CAPITOL HILL

Asteris Keystone, Keeneland’s Repository software, has the capability to both upload quality videos of scopes and view them along with digital radiographs and submitted eye certificates or surgery letters.

“Keeneland is hopeful that through educating veterinarians, buyers and consignors on the capabilities of the Repository software, all parties will feel confident in using these procedures in the near future,” Keeneland Director of Sales Operations Geoffrey Russell said.

Keeneland is committed to following the AAEP guidelines for scope videos. Any consignor that chooses to put such videos on file are required to submit the same no more than 10 days from the sale day of the horse and preferably once the horse is on the sales grounds. Consignors and veterinarians will receive Repository guidelines and deadlines prior to each sale.

As with the viewing of digital radiographs, registered veterinarians inspecting horses for prospective buyers will be able to view the scope videos in the Repository. Consignors will have the right to be notified when a veterinarian views a scope of their horse.

Keeneland’s Repository, which was established in 1996, is located in the Sales Pavilion. Registered veterinarians, who have established an account (and receive a username and password), may inspect the medical records of a sales horse online at any time.

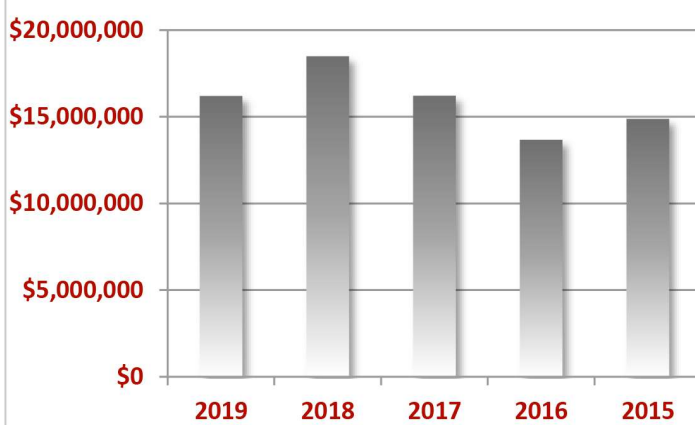

Sales officials have also announced that for the first time this year, buyers may request at the time of their purchase that blood be drawn from their new acquisition to be tested for the presence of bisphosphonates. Buyers may also request that their yearlings be tested for anabolic androgenic steroids.

THURSDAY'S INSIGHTS: FORMIDABLE PLETCHER DUO DEBUT AT THE SPA

Sponsored by Alex Nichols Agency

Mystic Lancelot | ThoroStride

4th-SAR, $90k, Msw, 2yo, 5 1/2ft, 2:38 p.m. ET

Todd Pletcher sends out a pair of pricey juvenile colts in Thursday's fourth race at the Spa. MYSTIC LANCELOT (Into Mischief) was acquired by Phoenix Thoroughbred III for $450,000 following the colt's :10 1/5 furlong drill at this spring's Fasig-Tipton Timonium Sale. The bay breezed a :50 4/5 (18/52) half-mile on the turf course in company Aug. 9 with July 14 maiden special weight winner Sweet Melania (American Pharoah) (Click for XBTV Video). Phoenix Thoroughbred's Into Mischief first-time starter Call On Mischief captured a maiden special weight at Monmouth last weekend for trainer Michael Stidham.

Donegal Racing signed the ticket for Croi Mor (Honor Code) for $150,000 as a yearling at the Keeneland September Sale. His dam Eden's Storm (Stormy Atlantic) is a half-sister to English champion and $4,116,358 earner David Junior (Pleasant Tap) and hails from the family of turf giants Paradise Creek (Irish River {Fr}) and Theatrical (Ire) (Nureyev). Croi Moor is a half-sister to the stakes placed-Seeking Paradise (Blame). TJCIS PPs

1st-Lrl, $40k, Msw, 2yo, f, 6f, 1:10 p.m. ET

A half-sister to the brilliant runner and useful sire The Factor (War Front) will take her place in the starting gate in Thursday's opener at Laurel. MORAVIAN PRAYER (Bayern), picked up for the bargain price tag of $30,000 at the Fasig-Tipton October Sale, has been training steadily over this oval under the watchful eye of top Maryland horseman Hamilton Smith. Her dam Greyciousness (Miswaki) is a half-sister to the precocious juvenile Chief Seattle (Seattle Slew), runner-up in the 1999 GI Breeders' Cup Juvenile. The Factor, a dual Grade I-winning sprinter, blazed six furlongs in 1:06.98 en route to a Santa Anita track record as a juvenile.

Fashion Rules (Constitution) is by the current leading freshman sire in the country (by Tapit) and is out of a mare who's produced two black-type runners in GI American Oaks heroine Decked Out (Street Boss) and multiple stakes winner Morrow Cove (Yes It's True). The Shug McGaughey-trained filly was a $185,000 Keeneland November weanling and RNA'd for $145,000 at this year's OBS April sale after a :10 2/5 eighth of a mile breeze. TJCIS PPs

Kimari first put her dazzling speed on display in her debut performance Apr. 25 at Keeneland when she annihilated a field of maidens by 15-lengths on her way to 'TDN Rising Star-dom'. The filly impressed her trainer enough to warrant a trip overseas to Royal Ascot and the bay was beaten a head for the win in the G2 Queen Mary S.

Kimari | Sarah Andrew

Back on American soil, the $152,000 FTKJUL purchase rocketed out of the barrier and battled between foes for the early lead. Blistering a quarter-mile in :21.55, Kimari seized the advantage as she rattled off a half in :44.54. Pressured by rivals down the lane, she hit a second gear at the eighth pole and surged to the wire well in hand.

"She had been training real well," said Wesley Ward assistant Ollie Sangster. "She showed us what we always had seen. We were a bit disappointed to get beat at Ascot, but they had a lot of rain, which wasn't to her liking, but she still ran a big race. She showed us what she was made of today."

Kimari is out the graded stakes-winning mare Cozze Up Lady, who was acquired by China Horse Club for $300,000 at the 2014 Fasig-Tipton November Sale. She has a yearling colt by Exaggerator entered in Keeneland September and foaled a colt by Quality Road this year. Click for the Equibase.com chart or VIDEO, sponsored by Fasig-Tipton.

STORY TIME (f, 3, Broken Vow--Tell Me Everything, by Giant's Causeway) was a decisive winner of a June 7 optional claimer here two starts back. Jumping up to stakes company in her subsequent outing, the bay ran a flat fifth in the July 13 Hatoof S. at Arlington. Given a 4-1 chance in this spot, the $150,000 FTSAUG buy was away slowly and rated comfortably in mid-pack following steady fractions of :24.01 and :48.25. Full of momentum coming into the stretch, Story Time was guided into the four-path in the final furlong and flashed by the leaders late for a 1 3/4-length tally. She is a half-sister to Verboten (Elusive Quality), SP, and hails from the family of Grade I winner Confessional (Holy Bull). ENGLISH BREEZE (f, 2, English Channel--Dreaming of Cara {MSP, $265,150}, by North Light {Ire}), off at odds of 9-1, stamped herself as one to watch with this impressive performance. Always traveling nicely in fifth through fractions of :23.88 and :48.27, the blinkered bay revved up with a menacing three-four-wide sweep on the far turn and took off from there to graduate by 4 3/4 good-looking lengths. Sainte Mere Eglise (Noble Mission {GB}) rallied smartly from last of 10 to be second. The winner's dam had a filly by The Factor in 2018 and a filly by Noble Mission (GB) this year. WOPIGSOOIE (c, 2, Secret Circle--Not Affiliated, by Tale of the Cat) became the first winner for his freshman sire (by Eddington) powering home in his second career start here. The bay made a promising debut July 20 when he was steadied at the three-eighths pole and rallied strongly to just miss the win by a neck. The even-money favorite this time broke keenly and sparred with Archie Can't Sell (Archarcharch) on the front end through a :22.91 opening quarter. The dueling leaders were nose to nose after a half in :47.06. Woodpigsooie kicked clear in deep stretch and held the closing Sky Mike (Handsome Mike) at bay by 1 3/4 lengths. Sent to the front, the dark bay vied for the early lead with Baby Dragon (Talent Search) through opening fractions of :23.03 and :46.51. Weed Wacker shook off her rival in mid-stretch and drew away under a hand ride to score by 2 3/4 lengths. ## ANOTHER STAR TO ASCEND IN DEAUVILLE

Starlet's Sister | Diana Pikulski

by Kelsey Riley

DEAUVILLE, France--Deauville is commonly referred to as the 21st arrondissement, and during the opening session of Arqana's August yearling sale on Saturday the number 21 is likely to be a star attraction, as it has been assigned to Monceaux's Fastnet Rock (Aus) colt out of star producer Starlet's Sister (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}).

The bay received another timely update just last weekend when his half-sister Sistercharlie (Ire) (Myboycharlie {Ire}) took her sixth Grade I when defending her title in the GI Beverly D. S.

Sistercharlie is the first foal out of Starlet's Sister, who then went on to produce the G3 Prix Bertrand de Tarragon winner My Sister Nat (Fr) (Acclamation {GB}). Sottsass (Fr) (Siyouni {Fr})'s victory in this year's G1 Prix du Jockey Club means Starlet's Sister has produced three group winners from three foals to race, all three of which are now in the hands of Peter Brant. Brant also purchased the mare's current 2-year-old, Radiant Charm (Ire) (Charm Spirit {Ire}), for €400,000 at last year's Arqana August yearling sale.

"She throws very correct horses that are good movers, but especially with great minds that are so easy to deal with," said Ecurie des Monceaux's Henri Bozo. "To have a career like Sistercharlie has had, she needs a great mind and I think that's the main feature of her progeny."

Starlet's Sister was unplaced for trainer Jean-Claude Rouget, and acquired privately by Monceaux as a 4-year-old.

ALL EYES ON HEADMAN AT DEAUVILLE

There is abundant quality on offer across France, Ireland and Britain on Thursday, but the major player is 'TDN Rising Star' Headman (GB) (Kingman {GB}) in Deauville's G2 Prix Guillaume D'Ornano Haras du Logis Saint-Germain. Impressive when dealing with the subsequent G1 Grand Prix de Paris winner Jalmoud (GB) (New Approach {Ire}) and the re-opposing Flop Shot (Ire) (New Approach {Ire}) in the G2 Prix Eugene Adam over this 10-furlong trip at Saint-Cloud June 30, Khalid Abdullah's homebred escapes a penalty in this long-range Arc pointer and jockey Jason Watson is relishing resuming the partnership.

"We've been happy with how he came out of his last race in France. He did win quite nicely and encouragingly, so we'll try our luck out there again," he said. "He's already beaten Flop Shot, who is running, so I hope he's going out there with a good chance." Cont. p5

- By the sire of multiple Gr. 1 winner Almanzor.

“We bought her out of training when she was four through Hubert Guy,” said Bozo. “She was by Galileo out of a nice family—not the best at the time, but we decided to give it a chance. She was by Galileo, and the trainer said she had talent even though she couldn’t show it on the track. So we gave it a go and bought her.”

Starlet’s Sister is a full-sister to G3 Prix Cleopatre winner Leo’s Starlet (Ire) and a half to listed winner and multiple Group 1-placed Anabaa’s Creation (Ire) (Anabaa), the dam of listed winner Create A Dream (Oasis Dream {GB}) since Starlet’s Sister’s purchase. Starlet’s Sister has, however, undoubtedly been the heavyweight lifter when it comes to updating the page.

“It’s a bit of luck in the business that you have sometimes,” Bozo said. Explaining the decision to send the mare to Myboycharlie for her first cover, he said, “I wanted to cover her at a reasonable fee with a proven stallion with a kick, and that worked well with Myboycharlie. But this mare can produce with any stallion. She’s one of these gold mines that we’ve been very fortunate to acquire.”

Reflecting on My Sister Nat and Sottsass, Bozo said, “We then sent her to Acclamation who is a stallion I like. In a different style she produced a very gifted filly who was a Group 3 winner and Group 2-placed in France and, according to the trainer, had a lot of talent. We then sent her to Siyouni, who is a stallion we’re using more and more. He works very well with Galileo mares and Sottsass is a champion. He’s a very impressive horse, he won the French Derby beating a nice horse very easily.”

Lot 21, Fastnet Rock colt out of Starlet’s Sister | Arqana

Starlet’s Sister’s biggest fan, Bozo aside, surely is Peter Brant. Brant purchased Sistercharlie privately prior to her runner-up effort in the 2017 G1 Prix de Diane, and just a few months later he turned up to buy Sottsass at Arqana August for €340,000.

He added Radiant Charm, currently in training alongside Sistercharlie with Chad Brown, to his stable last August, with Michel Zerolo working as agent.

Reflecting on the early stages of Sistercharlie's racing career, Zerolo said, "What I liked best about her was her third race, which was a conditions race at Saint-Cloud where she was very impressive coming from the back of the pack to win a race that was slowly run. She was very impressive.

"Sottsass was a good-looking horse, a very good mover and very athletic," Zerolo added. "He had a great demeanour. It was love at first sight. Sottsass probably takes a lot after his mother; there's a little bit of Siyouni in him but also a mix of Galileo as well. He's a very good-looking horse."

It would surprise no one were Brant to have his eye on the Fastnet Rock colt this weekend, and Bozo said of him, "we sent the mare to Fastnet Rock, which is a stallion I really love. He's proven and he's very good. He can produce very genuine horses who last and the mating with Galileo mares has been amazing. She produced a beautiful colt who is very correct, walks very well and is a powerful animal with a good mind. He should follow his siblings' footsteps."

At just 10 years of age, should Starlet's Sister continue in the same kind of form, she is poised to become a highly influential broodmare. The chestnut has a Dubawi filly foal at foot at present and is back in foal to that Darley sire.

Asked if the Dubawi filly could feature in the Monceaux draft next August, Bozo said, "it's early times but there's a chance she will. It will depend on what we have from the mare [next year], who is carrying to Dubawi again but I think she's another special individual. With a Galileo mare, Dubawi is an obvious choice so for next year we'll see if we go to Dubawi again or if we go back to Siyouni." Cont. p4

SIYOUNI • Sire of more than 55 Stakes performers, including Gr.1 winners ERVEDYA, LAURENS and SOTTASS.

With what Starlet’s Sister has achieved thus far from a range of different sires, it would seem her options are nearly limitless.

While Starlet’s Sister’s latest colt will no doubt be a star attraction, he’ll be far from alone in the spotlight among Monceaux’s perennially strong offering. The 33-strong draft also includes the likes of lot 16, a colt by the red-hot Kingman (GB) who is a half-brother to two stakes winners; lot 48, a first-crop daughter of Shalaa (Ire) who is a half-sister to French champion 2-year-old National Defense (Ire) (Invincible Spirit {Ire}); lot 60, a full-brother to ‘TDN Rising Star’ Lope Y Fernandez (Ire) (Lope de Vega {Ire}) and a half-brother to G2 Vintage S. winner Dark Vision (Ire) (Dark Angel {Ire}); lot 78, a Galileo (Ire) filly out of a stakes-placed half-sister to G1 Prix de l’Arc de Triomphe winner Danedream (Ger) (Lomitas {GB}); and lot 148, a Dubawi (Ire) half-sister to Classic winner Chicquita (Ire) (Montjeu {Ire}) and G2 Ribblesdale S. winner Magic Wand (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}).

DECODING THE LANGUAGE OF THE THOROUGHBRED by Sue Finley

In my 10th year of French studies, I took a year-long course in translation. Whenever a student would ask, “but why do they say ‘I have 18 years’ instead of ‘I am 18 years old?’” the teacher’s answer was the same: Because French is not English using different words. In other words, just accept it. This lesson was brought home to me when I was at the movies in Paris one day watching an American film. The actress said in English, “I’m completely lost here,” and the translation in French appeared on the screen: “I’m pedaling through yogurt.” Certainly not what she said...but to the French, apparently what she meant.

Each individual industry, of course, has its own particular language. And in a sport where a jockey will come back after a workout and say, “I broke him off at the pole,” a complete mystery to outsiders, Thoroughbred racing is certainly no exception.

But just in time for English speakers heading to Deauville for the Arqana August Sale, help has arrived, in the form of Nicole Braem’s “Vocabulaire des Courses et De L’Élevage,” or, “Racing and Breeding Vocabulary.”

The portable 67-page booklet is a helpful tool for anyone going from an English-speaking country to a French-speaking one (or vice versa) to conduct racing business.

Braem, who holds a Master’s Degree in English from the University of Lille, is a former English teacher who subsequently spent 25 years riding out at Chantilly. She met the illustrator for the cover and the inside back cover, the French cartoonist JOYEUX, when they were both riding out for Maurice Zilber. She has divided the booklet into different sections in the industry; from professions (Je suis entraîneur; mon ecurie est a Chantilly) to anatomy, markings, racing and sales terms and more.

And so we learn that “bugboy” does not translate literally into some sort of ‘insecte-garcon’ in France, where a new jockey is simply an “apprenti” or apprentice. France’s names for a horse’s front legs (anterior droit and anterior gauche) cite left and right, rather than near or fore, which makes more sense to me.

A horse's frog isn't a grenouille at all, but a fourchette, the same word for a fork (not in the road, but the one that you eat with.) Horses wear iron (le fer) on their feet, rather than shoes, and they are fitted with iron (ferre) rather than being shod.

Of course, the most relevant section for this week is the section on 'les ventes.' As we all see in the catalogue, horses are 'presentes' rather than consigned, and you're not nominated to the Breeders' Cup; rather, you're qualified (qualifie). Mares aren't in foal; they're full, or 'pleine.' (That's also a helpful lesson when you're in the Zinc Bar at Arqana and someone asks you if you'd like a sandwich. You're not full, which means pregnant. Instead, you don't have hunger. 'Je n'ai pas faim.')

But just as sandwich translates to sandwich, we learn the disappointing news that yearlings translates to yearlings, breeze-up to breeze-up, and foal to foal. But say them with a French accent, and at least you'll feel like you're speaking French.

Jockey William Buick said he welcomed the publication of the booklet, writing, "to understand professional terms for horse racing in English and French is hugely important for everyone involved in the sport. One of my regrets personally is I never learned French in school, but I hope this booklet will help me in the future."

The booklet will be on sale during the Arqana sale in the boutique and the welcoming office inside the main entrance. It is also available to purchase on Jour de Galop's online store.

For someone who used to beg my teachers to let me translate a Dick Francis book as my schoolwork, only to be told that it wasn't interesting enough, (it was to me), this book hits the spot.

Je vous verrai aux ventes!

During another Deauville festival where the majority of the black-type races have been heading overseas, Flaxman Stables Ireland's Up Helly Aa (Ire) (Galileo {Ire}) adds weight to the challenge to the French-trained contingent. Second in the G3 Meld S. at Leopardstown July 18, the son of the former Willie McCreery stable star Fiesolana (Ire) (Aussie Rules) is open to further progression. "He seems in good form. He'll have to improve again to win it, but we hope he's on an upward curve," McCreery said. "He's improving physically the whole time, so I hope he will do so on the track."

Elsewhere on the card, the G3 Arqana Prix de Lieurey sees another British raider with strong claims in the Meon Valley homebred Twist 'N' Shake (GB) (Kingman {GB}). Fourth in the G1 Coronation S. at Royal Ascot June 21, the John Gosden trainee registered a 3 1/2-length defeat of the re-opposing Fount (GB) (Frankel {GB}) in the Listed Prix de Bagatelle over this track and mile trip July 21. She is met by Teruya Yoshida's Commes (Fr) (Le Havre {Ire}), who was runner-up in the G1 Poule d'Essai des Pouliches at ParisLongchamp May 12 and G1 Prix de Diane at Chantilly June 16. Reverting to the distance of the former Classic, she lost out by inches in both contests and needs a win like this on her resume.

Commes's trainer Jean-Claude Rouget pitches last year's G1 Poule d'Essai des Poulains hero Olmedo (Fr) (Declaration of War) into the G3 Prix Gontaut-Biron Hong Kong Jockey Club on the back of a disappointing effort when 15th in the G1 Queen Anne S. at Royal Ascot June 18. At Salisbury, last year's Queen Anne winner Accidental Agent (GB) (Delegator {GB}) lines up search of a confidence boost in the G3 Tattersalls Sovereign S. after finishing last of eight in first-time cheekpieces in the G1 Sussex S. at Goodwood July 31. Trainer Eve Johnson Houghton is happy that the 5-year-old is in a good place and said, "We know he is better on a straight track--a look at his form tells you that--and he's not bothered by a bit of cut, so we're not concerned on that score. He just got caught on heels at Goodwood last time and just threw his head up a bit. He finished really well though and was only beaten five lengths, so it wasn't too bad at all."

Of the 3-year-olds in the Sovereign, Susan Roy's G3 Hampton Court S. third King Ottokar (Fr) (Motivator {GB}) drops back to a mile having faded late when third in that June 20 10-furlong contest. "He had a lovely run at Royal Ascot. We felt that day, potentially, he didn't quite get home," trainer Charlie Fellowes commented. "He was drawn wide and had to challenge wide, so he did well to finish third. We are dropping back to a mile off the back of that run which I hope will be okay. Ideally we want plenty of rain, because it needs to be a bit of a stamina test."

Fanny Logan | Racing Post

Fanny Logan, who stepped up from an Apr. 28 graduation at Wetherby to run third in Chester's May 8 Listed Cheshire Oaks, finished off the radar in Royal Ascot's June 20 G2 Ribblesdale S. and went postward for this returning of an impressive win in the July 26 Listed Lyric Fillies' S. at York. The homebred bay was steadied to track the leaders in fourth after an alert getaway. Inching closer on the bridle with three furlongs remaining, she eased to the fore approaching the final quarter mile and was pushed clear thereafter to secure a second stakes triumph by daylight.

"I won on her before, she's run some nice races and is improving with every run," said winning rider Rab Havlin. "She didn't really stay at Chester and I wasn't sure how much she'd find in that [soft] ground as she's a good-moving filly. The soft ground probably helped her settle and she travelled well throughout. She came on the bridle around the bend into the straight and that helped her home."

Fanny Logan, kin to a 2-year-old colt by Night of Thunder (Ire) and a 2019 colt by Dubawi (Ire), is the second foal and lone performer for Listed Prix Dahlia third Linda Radlett (Ire) (Manduro {Ger}), herself a half-sister to MG1SW sire Hunter's Light (Ire) (Dubawi {Ire}). Nudged along passing the quarter-mile marker, the 13-8 pick quickened through a gap to lead entering the final eighth and was ridden clear to easily account for Cheat (Ire) (Gutaifan {Ire}) by 3 1/2 lengths. ## MOST REMAINING 2019 FIXTURES TO HAVE PHYSIOTHERAPISTS

Over 90% of the remaining 2019 fixtures (roughly 1,350 cards) will have physiotherapists present for jockeys, the British Horseracing Authority (BHA) announced with the Racecourse Association (RCA), and Injured Jockeys Fund (IJF). The previous rate of coverage was 60%. This initiative is part of a cross-industry effort to improve medical facilities for riders and follows grant approval by the Horseracing Betting Levy Board (HBLB). Ideally, the provision will continue in 2020 and beyond pending further approval of the HBLB with eventually all fixtures run under Rules in Great Britain being covered by physiotherapists. The funding also went towards the purchase of additional equipment.

"Physiotherapists are key members of the multi-disciplinary team in professional sport and it would be inconceivable not to have one present at any professional football or rugby game--racing will now be able to match other sports," said BHA Chief Medical Adviser Dr. Jerry Hill. "The existing service has been jointly funded by the BHA, IJF, individual racecourses and the jockeys themselves and is an essential part of raceday provision preparing our athletes to perform and treating injuries."

UNIBET LAUNCHES PARTNERSHIP WITH #GORACINGGREEN AT NEWBURY

Kindred, through its Unibet brand, has partnered with Debbie Matthews's #GoRacingGreen—a project designed to make racing accessible to those that suffer from mental health problems—at Newbury Racecourse on Wednesday. The pilot scheme begins on Unibet Hungerford Day, Saturday, Aug. 17. Racegoers are encouraged to wear green, signifying that they are happy for someone to approach and talk to them, or as awareness to those around them that they might be feeling anxious. Permanent members of the Newbury Racecourse staff underwent training in order to know how to assist any racegoers experiencing social anxiety. In addition, an alcohol-free #GoRacingGreen Quiet Zone has been created behind the paddock. Kindred has also committed to all future sponsorship with racecourses now including #GoRacingGreen and they are donating one in three Unibet advertisements—both digital and physical—on Aug. 17.

“The investment we are announcing today means GoRacingGreen can continue to build on their fantastic work since they started the project earlier this year,” said Kindred Group Head of Racing Communications & Sponsorship Ed Nicholson. “Our partnership with GoRacingGreen shows a new model for sport sponsorship is possible.”

One of Ballydoyle's best-bred fillies, TDN Rising Star Goddess had looked special, dipped and is now once again in the ascendant as she registered a vital first black-type success in this competitive contest. Having won her maiden by 10 lengths at Leopardstown last July, the granddaughter of Urban Sea (Miswaki) had finished last of six in the G3 Silver Flash S. there a fortnight later and when back in action this term took three starts to get back to her old standard. Runner-up in the G2 Kilboy Estate S. over nine furlongs at The Curragh July 21, the bay built on that effort here and after tracking the pace closely on the outer responded gamely when committed two out.

LOVING LIFE ON THE ROAD

Dane Robinson | Magic Millions

by Bren O'Brien

There are two requisite qualities someone needs for a position working as part of Magic Millions Bloodstock team, a willingness to travel and a love of meeting and dealing with people. A little more than two months into his role as Magic Millions' New South Wales Bloodstock Consultant, Dane Robinson has clocked up over 12,000km on the road and visited countless farms across his territory, getting an understanding of how each and every business works.

While early in the journey, Robinson is relishing his new opportunity to apply his previous experience across the Thoroughbred industry, while continuing to learn by meeting with new people every day.

"The thing I've found really enjoyable is that I'm getting out to meet these people and learn about their businesses and learn how they like to do things. In this game, you are always learning and when you are getting to learn from the best in the industry, it is invaluable," he told TDN AusNZ. "It's been priceless for me. Coming to Magics, it was about taking that next step and continuing my learning and development in the industry and being with a progressive company like Magics, it's great."

For Magic Millions Managing Director Barry Bowditch, the key to anyone successfully representing the company to potential clients and vendors, is a passion for, and understanding of, the industry and how to achieve positive outcomes for those clients.

"I guess when we are looking for people, we are looking for those who have a serious passion for the industry. But above that, people who are relatable to our clients. They need to be able to go out there and get along with our clientele and our team and build and grow the relationships that Magic Millions has fostered over many years," he said.

When Bloodstock Manager Clint Donovan rang Robinson, then working for Highclere Thoroughbreds, out of the blue to talk to him about a possible job earlier this year, it was clear that Magic Millions had identified someone who had those qualities.

"That's where it starts and ends in our mind. You want your clients to have a great experience. You want them to enjoy the people they are dealing with," Bowditch said. "It's getting the right individual in front of the right person.

"And it's not just about having the client comfortable to talk to just one person, but maybe three or four of us. We are a team and we like to share the journey with our clients."

Doing the Best for the Client

The thing that strikes you about Robinson when you speak to him about his role at Magic Millions is his determination to 'do good' for the client, not just because it makes commercial sense, but because it is the right thing to do.

"I feel like it's in the blood. In the role that I am in now, my role now is to help breeders and vendors get a result. These are salt-of-the-earth people who are dependant on getting a good result to have a good year and make ends meet," he said. "I feel like you are really helping the right people. I think that's passion enough in itself."

When Robinson says it's in his blood, he is not exaggerating. His grandfather Kevin was a legendary harness racing figure, while his father Terry has trained successfully in both codes out of the South Coast of NSW all his life. Cont. p2

Barry Bowditch | TDN AusNZ

It was the bug of stable life which Dane caught as a 14-year-old when he started helping out his Dad, right through to his time at University of Wollongong, where he managed to complete a finance degree despite admitting he would have rather been at the track.

A spell working for Gai Waterhouse followed before he secured a spot in the coveted Darley Flying Start program. That led him to connect with Harry Herbert, who took him on to help manage his Highclere operation in the United Kingdom after he completed the Darley program.

Increasingly embedded with the 'business' side of the industry, Robinson realised how much there was to learn. While the influence of his family background was strong, the desire to train himself was never there.

"I love being hands-on with horses when I can but training long-term wasn't something I saw as a career," he said. "I saw my father do it for a long time and it engulfs your whole life. There is more to life than horses and if you want to train, then you have to dedicate your whole life to it."

The Mentor

The other significant family influence on Robinson's career progression is his older sister Jennifer. Highly-driven for as long as Dane can remember, she became a Rhodes Scholar and is now a respected human rights lawyer and barrister famous for defending Wikileaks founder Julian Assange.

"She sets a high benchmark that's for sure," Dane said. "She's a big motivator for me. She broke the boundaries down for us. She was probably the second person in the family to get a degree. Mum was pretty big into that. She has always pushed us to get an education, as did Dad.

"Jen was motivated from a very early age and she paved the path for me as well. She showed you could break down the walls."

More than just an example, Jen has proven a significant influence on her younger brother's career.

"She was always there to help and give me advice. She has always been a good mentor to me. To have someone like her, who is an absolute go-getter and who has a great way with people as well, seeing her doing those things, gave me confidence as well," he said.

The Secret to Success

The one thing that both Jen and Dane clearly share in their careers is an innate ability to connect with people. That ability to build trusted relationships is something that Bowditch said is crucial to Magic Millions' success.

"We like to think they become friends of our team and that's important, to get our staff out there, not just in a business sense, but to create a relationship with these people," he said.

"TDN AusNZ has added a new, and most welcome, dimension to the coverage of racing and breeding in Australasia. It is essential daily reading for me as there is something new to be learned from every edition."

I particularly enjoy the analytical writing of John Boyce, who seems to have access to an extraordinary database of facts/figures and thus invariably offers a fascinating perspective on things."

The bloodstock team is now into the heart of the yearling inspection season, assessing potential youngsters for the 2020 sales season, which kicks off with Magic Millions' iconic Gold Coast Sale in January.

"From July onwards, we are into it, right through to the end of the year," Bowditch said. "In terms of a January focus, it's probably from now until the end of September and we are knee-deep in that at the moment.

"The boys are out on the road, and I'm out there too, talking to clients about where they can best sell their yearlings in 2020."

It looms as more travel and more conversation for Robinson, but he wouldn't have it any other way.

"You get strength from helping others. That's the good way to look at it and if you can do that in the racing industry which I grew up with and I loved, it's happy days," he said.
